

Letter from the Presidents Spring, 2008

Despite treacherous roads and a blustery sky more than 30 people attended the WSRA sponsored Road Show on Response to Intervention (RtI) held at the Macintosh Café at Whispering Orchards on Saturday, January 26. The panel of speakers presented an outstanding, comprehensive overview of what to expect with this dynamic movement in our schools.

Our next and last meeting of the year should be equally as provocative!

Thursday, April 24 5:00 – 7:00 Longfellow School Lawn or Library

Two Julies and a dog or three will be demonstrating the miracle of Reading Therapy Dogs with real students and trained canines. We'll have a hot dog roast and picnic on the lawn of Longfellow School (weather permitting, of course!). Join Julie Kramer from the Green Grove Kennels in Oostburg, and Julie Hauck, 3rd Grade Teacher from Longfellow, recently awarded a grant for further "dog" study and recently published several times in the Sheboygan Press, to learn more about possibly training YOUR dog or improving the reading skills of YOUR students. Each attendee will be provided a handout of expertly selected books about dogs and some lucky winners of door prizes will take home their own copy.

At our business meeting beginning at 5:15 that evening we'll be electing new officers and presenting information from the WSRA Leadership meeting held in Madison on April 12.

Please come to the meeting with suggestions for topics/speakers you would like to hear about next year.
