

Reading Council Websites to Check out:

1. <http://www.wsra.org/links.php>

This is the WSRA website (www.wsra.org)links page. It has many useful sites to help you keep abreast of current trends in reading.

2. http://www.wsra.org/councils/racine_kenosha/RKRCindex.html

This is our local reading council website. We are posting Native American resources here for the month of November. It is an excellent source of information. Also, photos are posted here of our council meetings. So be sure to look for yourself!!!

3. <http://www.ira.org/resources/community/links.html>

This is the links page for the International Reading Association (www.ira.org). I always love the links page because it gives you so much information to see what is going on in the field of reading.

4. <http://nicenet.org>

This is RKRC's Native American resource list for teachers.

What you do is go to this website.

Then click on the button that says "Join a class".

Then type in this Class Key: W86R76T86

Then you will be instructed to fill in a personal user name and password. Be sure to remember this because it is needed each time you log on.

Once you are in the class, go to the links sharing page and enjoy!!

Any questions, feel free to email Lynette Powers (RKRC President) at lpowers@kUSD.edu

Have fun with it!!
