

The Mid-East Reading Council

Presents

Tara Kempen and Jennifer Zurawski

Wednesday, April 24, 2019

(Rescheduled from January 29, 2019)

Concordia University - Appleton Campus

4351 W College Ave, Suite 100

6:00-7:30 PM

Light snacks will be provided.

Engaging and Empowering Students During Workshop Using Digital Tools

Discover how one elementary school literacy coach and librarian/technology coach worked together to create purposeful and authentic integration of literacy and digital learning. Teachers have found that with the help of digital tools, they can increase student/teacher efficiency and enhance student literacy skills. Examples include how teachers and students use digital tools to formatively assess and set goals, log reading, record and strengthen book club discussions, plus so much more! Empower students to have voice and choice while reading and writing, all while including parents in the process.

Tara Kempen and Jennifer Zurawski are teachers in the School District of West DePere. Tara is and Elementary Literacy Coach and Jennifer is a Library Media/Instructional Technology Specialist. They will be presenting at the WSRA Convention this February.

Appleton Area School District employees will be pleased to know that District Points are available for this professional development opportunity.

Register online at www.wsra.org/2019-merc-jan or use the form below.

Registrations are due Tuesday, April 23, 2019

Name _____

Email _____

Phone _____

MERC membership $20.00 Local Council Members FREE* Non-members $15.00

$ _____ Total enclosed

*With a paid MERC membership

Payment is due with registration. Checks may be made payable to the Mid-East Reading Council. Send to Tanya Lange, 240 Warner St. Hortonville, WI 54944. Please contact us at mideastreadingcouncil@gmail.com with questions.